You don't really know extreme pressure or pain -- or how to prepare for and recover from it -- unless you've competed in professional mixed martial arts (MMA).

That's why the maker of NuCalm®, a patented, clinically proven, drug-free stress intervention neuroscience technology, is teaming up with Xtreme Fighting Nation (XFN) to sponsor XFN's four-part "Tournament of Titans" series taking place in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, between September 2016 and February 2017.

In announcing the partnership, James Poole, CEO/President of Solace Lifesciences, Inc., maker of NuCalm, said, "This is a great opportunity to work with high level MMA tournament fighters and follow the winner as they progress to the finale in Spring 2017. The winner, who will make his pro debut with Titan, will use NuCalm to help in his training, and will be offered a contract for their pro debut by Titan FC next spring. "We are proud to team up with XFN and its athletes with whom we share pride, optimism and inspiration," Poole said.

NuCalm (www.nucalm.com), which has been used over the last six years by hundreds of thousands of professional and Olympic athletes, dental and cancer patients, pilots, business executives, and others, has been called a "secret weapon" that helps athletes train, prepare for battle, then recover from aches, pain and injuries. Poole said, "NuCalm – a revolutionary 21st century technology cleared by the FDA -- helps athletes resolve stress and balance mind and body. It's a valuable addition to the athlete's arsenal." The four-part system provides effective stress management resulting in increased focus, faster healing, increased muscle recovery and reduced inflammation. Drug-free, it takes effect in minutes yet has no side-or after-effects.

"We learn from extremes," says Poole. "So if NuCalm helps MMA fighters – and I can't think of another type of athlete that comes close – then it can work for everyone. Players for the Chicago Blackhawks hockey team have been using NuCalm for over four seasons. Their muscular endurance, speed and power must be at incredibly high levels. MMA fighters need to be at their peak, perform at the top of their game, recover quickly, move into a relaxation mode, and be ready for 'Round 2,' in whatever form that comes. NuCalm prepares you for whatever type of haymaker comes your way."

United Fight Alliance (UFA) has partnered with Xtreme Fighting Nation to televise the four-part series Tournament of Titans where the winner will receive a contract to make their pro debut with Titan Fighting Championship and will receive a NuCalm system. NuCalm is helping prepare the athletes for their upcoming fight as well as providing recovery after the fight. The tournament will be aired to over 115 million homes on UFA's television networks including ROOT Sports, Comcast SportsNet Chicago, Cox Sports Television, Tuff TV and Untamed Sports. Visit UFA's television schedule to watch for the airing dates for the XFN shows. The upcoming dates for this Ft. Lauderdale show are November 19, 2016, January 7, 2017 and February 28, 2017.

According to Jordan Adams, Founder and CEO of United Fight Alliance, "Xtreme Fighting Nation was a hit. The tournament format at 145 was a winner and there were plenty of great fights on the main card as well. Huge shout out to Jim and David Poole for their generous support and the amazing NuCalm technology. The guys in the 145 pound Tournament of Titans were blown away when they discovered that Solace Lifesciences is providing the winner with the $6,000 NuCalm system. UFC Star Fighter Anthony "Rumble" Johnson and longtime UFC Veteran Dave "The Crow" Loiseau look forward to taking advantage of this groundbreaking neurotechnology. Special thanks to the Founder and CEO of Xtreme Fighting Nation Daniel Kay. They rolled out the red carpet for United Fight Alliance. We look forward to the XFN show on November 19."

UFC and Bellator MMA stars frequent XFN events since they are training or supporting fighters on the card. Fighters from both the Blackzillians and ATT training camps often attend. Expected in future matches are 'Suga' Rashad Evans, Anthony 'Rumble' Johnson, Michael Johnson, Tyrome Spong, Matt Mitrione, Thiago Silva, Abel Trujillo, Nick Salchow, Yuri Villefort and from ATT, Charles Rosa, Tecia Torres, Valerie Leterneou, Alex Chambers, Amanda Nunes, Walt Harris, Mike Brown and Yoel Romero.

This isn't NuCalm's first MMA sponsorship. Last spring, NuCalm was a sponsor of the United Fight Alliance (UFA) at Broward College Omni Auditorium in Coconut Creek, FL.

This past year, NuCalm sponsored 'Relaxation Lounges' at such high-profile venues as the National Democratic Convention in Philadelphia, the Toronto International Film Festival, and the Bulletproof® Biohacking Conference in Pasadena. James Poole spoke on 'High Performance Recovery for Athletes' at the prestigious first Sports & Entertainment Summit in Los Angeles, sponsored by Variety and Sports Illustrated.

James Poole says anyone suffering from stress, anxiety, or fatigue can ask his or her doctor to write a prescription for NuCalm. For more information, visit www.nucalm.com, call 1-877-6NuCalm, or contact David Poole, Executive Vice President, Marketing/617-259-0877/david.poole@nucalm.com.
